A Lovely Drive.—The most beautiful drive in the vicinity of New Yerk is, beyond all question, that on the line of rose leading from Hoboken to Paterson, and resculty opened by the PATERSON AND NEW YORK PLANKROAD COMPANY. This road has a plank and also a gravel track, and for smoothness of surface, easiness and uniformity of grade leaves not hing to be desired by those who can appreciate the enjoyment of a quiet ural drive, with a light or heavy vehicle, along a road FREE FROM BUST, and sembining some of the most enchanting scenery to be found anywhere. The spiendid view from the east side of the hill about a mile and a half from Hoboken is unrivailed. On the western slope of the same hill, the prospect, so varied and extensive, yet so different, is not less to be admired; while the track beyond the Hackensack River, a perfect level of over two miles, is indeed equal to any race-course. Again, in going through the going at shawhank, a seeme of quiet leveliness breaks at once upon the sight, formed by the sectuded village of Acquackanonk. At Paterson, with the magnificent "Fails of the Passaic," the ride terminates. In passing slong and enjoying the beautics of nature, those "creature comforts" so necessary to sustain both man and beast are not found warting at the various places of entertainment along the line. Those of "Collins & Coleman," beyond the third mile post; Winans, at the Half Way House, seven miles out; for the passaic Falls, are alike distinguished, as well by the exaction of their lucate.

"Captain Marryat's productions are happy in more senses than one; he employs neither the effort nor the prolitaty of Cooper; his conception of character is so facile and felicitous that his personages immediately become our intimate acquaintance and astonish us by their faithful resemblance to whole classes of beings similarly situated. PRIME'S TENT LIFE IN THE HOLY LAND.

TENT LIFE IN THE HOLY LAND. By Wm. C. Prime,

Author of "The Old House by the River," "Later Years," &e. Illustrations. Famo, Muslin, $125.

Surrounded by their long-tried and faithful Arabian servants and guard, traveling in such a style as suited the comforts of a young and invalid American lady, our travelers loftered through the secred scene, pitching their tents, night siter night, in valleys whose names are dear to all Christian hearts. No association of interest scened their notice. They saw processions of the Fattisticals at Helron. The starlight of Bethlohem was full of beauty to their eyes. The Sea of Gallice had divine musle to their ears. The dow of Hermon fell cold on their foreheads.

In Jerusalem they remained a long time, and the volume is a complete and interesting guide to its spots of interest, whether to one traveling that way or to one resting at home. The discussion of the locality of the Ho y Places, in which Mr. Prime unhesitatingly differs from Dr. Robinson, and with an ample citation of authorities and topographical arguments overthrows the positions of that learned gentleman, is one of the meat valuable portions of the book. The rest is full of incident, all sorts of pleasant adventure, just such as all who read will long some time to exjoy themselves; meanthine, all will be glad of this oppartunity of knowing what it is to live in tents in the Holy tood. Rock this book and the Boat Life in Earypt contain ad-TO DRUGGISTS, &c.-Advertisements for th next (July) Number of the AMERICAN DRUGGISTS:

PRIME'S BOAT LIFE IN EGYPT.

BOAT LIFE IN EGYPT AND NUBIA. By William C.

Prime, author of "The Old House by the River," and "Later Years." Hinstrations. Izmo, maslim, $1.23.

"A most welcome book, from the graphic and graceful pen of William C. Prime. There is no mistake and no doubt about this book of travels. It is not strange that one who writes such English as Mr. Prime should make a good book."

"Since the publication of Stephens's record of his experiences in the same region, nothing has appeared of so satisfactory a character as this volume."

"Since the publication of Stephens's record of his experiences

"Mr. Prime is one of the best travelers and writers of travel of the present century. He is fond of adventure, shrewd in reading character in its most varied forms a lover of enricotiles, whether human or natural, and gifted with the art of conclesly ofting down all that be sees. His travels are deeply interesting accurate and practical—admirable guide books—genial and spirited, &c."

"Cergymen and scholars will find the book worth all other modern travels as a compendium of Egyptian learning and all who love to travel with a spirited, lively, adventurous traveler, will enjoy reading it."

"Row York Observer."

"This is a book of travels worth reading. The author is man of education, imagination, mental and physical health, elevation and fun. We speak stronely, but advisedly. Boat Life truly strange if Mr. Gray had not his equals among the printers of a city like this; but it is certain that more of those see small business could be of little importance to an establishment

If, in this respect, I have succeeded in piscing before the eyes of the public a new and animatel picture, and connected those apparently savage and degraded tribes more intimately with the history of roses placed in a higher level of devillation, I shall be amply recompensed for the toils and dangers I have gone through." ONE of the most "crying evils" experienced by house-keepers is that produced by the cooking of burk-weat, and all other griddle cakes. Since the general introduction of Cooking Stoves, the smoke and funes from the culinary department have some to be an intolerable unisance, and there is no one article in use which is so productive of fthis unisance as the common griddle upon which "pancakes" are cocked. Dr. BURNETTS PATENT VENTILATING GRIDDLE is an effectual cure for this terrible naisance, every particle of emoke, fume and odor, being carried into the due and up the chimney, leaving the atmosphere of the apartment pure and uncontaminated.

Everybody likes pancakes, but nobody can endure the smoke and fumes arising from the operation of cooking them. Manus factures and dealers in Stoves will promote their own laterests and that of their patrens, by obtaining an interest in this most excellent common-sense invention.
